

On the run

Spreading colours

Freedom

Rain rain go away

Determined

Tiny athlete

GET, SET, GO

Chennaiites proved once again that they will do anything, if it is for a cause. The number of participants at the recent Marg Give Life Marathon went up to thousands and even the organisers exclaimed with joy at the spirit and enthusiasm of Chennai's men and women.

More than just a marathon, it was an event that gave shutterbugs a number of interesting snapshots of people of all age groups. While some took it seriously and ran to win a spot, for others it was just about participation and enjoyment. They could be seen with ear plugs on and taking a jog. Even few expatriates participated in marathon and were seen participating in the run with equal gusto and energy. Girl students from different schools of the city were lined up on the pavements all through the Kamarajar Salai. They waved, beat the drums and cheered out loud to encourage the participants.

Onlookers also gathered in large number to watch sprinters take the run. Though it was a tough job for cops to control the excited crowd, they did so tirelessly. On the whole the marathon was proof to Chennai's warmth and spirit to help the needy.

—Team Expresso

Champion

Mum joins in